

DAILY ORAL LANGUAGE #1

REWRITE THE FOLLOWING SENTENCES.
MAKE ALL CORRECTIONS NECESSARY FOR THE SENTENCE TO BE IN STANDARD
ENGLISH. DO NOT CHANGE ANY WORDS.

1. After hitting the ball you should run to first base and touch its' corner with your foot.
2. To make things easier you should also hit the ball a long way and you should run as fast as you can.
3. Your going to be safe sometimes and at other times you will be out that's just the way it goes.
4. Their will be people who cheer for you when you are safe however, some will boo you to.
5. To kill a Mockingbird was a book written by Harper Lee a woman writer from the 1960s.

DAILY ORAL LANGUAGE #2

- 1. You need to go to the office, and sit there until a vice-principal a person who you probably don't want to see talks to you they're.
- 2. 7 years ago on February 12, 1990 in Seattle, Washington it rained; as you might remember; until you're basement flooded, it was a nightmare.
- 3. Rappacinni's Daughter, a short story by Nathaniel Hawthorne is about a beautiful dangerous girl who is bad for anyones health.
- 4. It took 5 try's before I finally succeeded; I was exhausted after the 3rd try.
- 5. You are the one who did it as I thought and I will punish you if I can but you probaly won't learn anything from it, I might as well not punish you at all.